Design Studies 1	2.1	Design Studies 2	Uncompleted
Product Design 1	2.1	Product Design 2	Uncompleted

I have completed various projects that cover a variety of disciplines, within the design sector. These range from packaging, sculptures, product analysis, technical problems and renderings. Most of these projects have been linked to industry, such as a penholder to be placed within the latest Jaguar S-Type. All of the projects required me to submit full third angle engineering drawings, a sketchbook of developments, renderings and a fully working scale model of my product. This has given me valuable experience across all aspects of the design process.

Hobbies and Interests

Being a keen sportsman I play for a Sunday league football team, of which I have been a member for ten years. During the winter skiing and snowboarding become a real passion and I currently have a BASI Gold award in skiing. I have previously worked as quartermaster for Docklands Scout project. This involves the running of a ship moored on the river Thames. My duties are to ensure the safety and readiness of all the equipment such as canoes and sailing boats of which I have relevant qualifications. I am also a qualified BSAC diver and lifesaver. I consider myself to be a very practical person, a team player with good leadership qualities. This is reflected in the Chief Scout challenge award that I hold (equivalent to D of E Silver). I was also accepted by the army on a work placement for the Princess of Wales's Royal Regiment, which enabled me to develop my teamwork skills. I was nominated by the Rotary Club to participate on the International Youth Leadership Award Scheme. This was a seven-day residential course that involved a variety of different team building and leadership exercises, involving people from India, Germany, Sweden, France, Yugoslavia and Be
